Sprint 2 Backlog

Product owner: Yangmei Lin (andrew id: yangmeil)

- Add location to events by communicating with the Google Maps API
- Users should be able to set their notification preferences for each event (i.e. whether they wish to be notified about upcoming events or not)
- App should send in-app notifications to logged in users about upcoming events that they wish to be notified for
- Users should be able to set privacy levels of the events that they create (read only v/s read and write privileges)
- Add timezone to events.
- Have the ability to create appointment slots, and send these out via email to recipients.
